that Martin's been involved in any sort of criminal activity or has been the victim of any crime.

"He may have gone into the water, that just remains one line of inquiry open to us, but I do get more concerned as each day goes on."

They have not ruled out the possibility that he may have fallen into Belfast Lough and drowned.

Yesterday, superintendent Ken Eccles said the police water search, which has so far concentrated on the stretch of water from Laganside Weir to the HSS Terminal, may be extended further out into the harbour. "Obviously every day that goes by that we don't find Martin or that's there's no news of him increases our concern," he said.

"But we are keeping a very open mind in relation to this matter, we are not ruling anything out at this point in time." "I would stress there's no suspicion at this time
