

Local News

Young Man's Death Was Not Suspicious

By Lesley Walsh

Tuesday 17th January 2006

Police last night ruled out any suspicious circumstances surrounding the death of a young man whose body was found on the north foreshore in Belfast yesterday.

A spokesman said that the body was that of a 19-year-old from the Belfast area, ending initial speculation that it might be that of 21-year-old Martin Kelly, a plumber and part-time barman from Holywood who has been missing since New Year's Day.

Ads by Goooooogle

Advertise on this site

The name of the deceased man has not yet been released at the request of his family who reported him missing on Sunday night.

Pro heating services

Specialist plumbing services inc. underfloor & geothermal heating.
www.NorthwestFloorHeating.co.uk

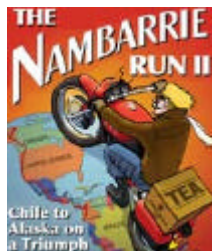

Officers searching for Mr Kelly found the man's body at a tip in DarganCrescent on the Harbour Estate. The investigation was triggered by a tip-off telephone call.

The discovery followed the disappearance of Mr Kelly who was last seen leaving Pat's Bar on Garmoyle Street in Belfast's docks area - close to where the body was found.

Northern Ireland Dating

Looking for a local date? Find them for Free now!
www.Dating-Internet.co.uk

He had gone to the bar with friends, but had stayed on after they left and was seen later leaving alone.

Ads by Goooooogle

N. Ireland Web Design

Browse 40+ web design firms in 20+ Northern Ireland cities/towns
uk.firmilist.com/northernireland/

Employment & Recruitment

Find Phone Numbers
 Addresses & Maps for Local Agencies with 118.com
118.com/Recruitment

Website Design Belfast

We will get you competitive quotes from a range of designers - for free
www.bobex.co.uk

Jobs in Northern Ireland

Visit Northern Ireland's number one recruitment website
www.nijobs.com

N. Ireland Web Design?

We create effective websites for clients all over Ireland
www.icfutures.com

Advertise on this site